

ASIAN CAPITAL MARKETS

COURSE & STUDY TOUR TO CHINA & JAPAN

Every other year, Foster offers a unique course on investment opportunities in Asia, the fastest growing continent over the past 40 years. The 2-credit course "Asian Capital Markets" (FIN 579, Winter 2020) takes a close look at investments in Asian frontier, emerging, and developed countries, covering asset classes such as corporate, PE, or VC investments, and public equity. We will explore these topics through case studies, several lectures, and a number of guest speakers with investment experience in Asia.

The course can be paired with a 2-credit study tour to China (Shanghai and Nanjing) and Japan (Tokyo). The objective of the study tour is to further enhance our understanding of investing in Asia, with a focus on China and Japan, through in-country meetings with investors, local financial institutions, and government officials.

Participation in the study tour is not required for successful completion of the course, but participation in the study tour requires that you take the course. Study tour participants will also be required to attend additional pre-departure sessions and will have additional deliverables. Successful completion of the course and the study tour provides students with a total of four credits.
